Pregnancy Rights of Employees

Non-Discrimination

Louisiana employers who employ more than twenty-five employees must provide reasonable accommodations for employees who are pregnant or nursing during their calendar year or are entitled to reasonable accommodations for other medical conditions. An employee may request a reasonable accommodation if she has a disability that makes it difficult for her to work, even though she is not physically disabled.

Reasonable Accommodations

Louisiana employers have a general duty to reasonably accommodate an employee's physical limitations associated with pregnancy, lactation, or other medical conditions. An employer may request an employee to provide documentation of a medical condition before providing an accommodation.

- Making existing facilities, equipment, or procedures available or accessible to an employee with a disability;
- Providing a modified schedule;
- Providing a private place, other than a bathroom stall, where the employee can sit down and rest during break times;
- Modifying how a job is done;
- Providing training or allowing the employee to use more frequently if the job requires the employee to move around;
- Assistance with manual labor and lifting tasks;
- Temporarily transferring the employee to a less strenuous or less hazardous position, if qualified;
- Adjusting work schedules;
- Acquiring or modifying equipment or devices necessary for performing essential job functions; or
- Modifying work schedules.

Employer Obligations

In addressing an employee's pregnancy, childbirth, or related medical conditions, an employer may:

- Refuse to hire;
- Refuse to select her for a training program leading to promotion, provided she is able to complete the training program and meet all other requirements for the position except for her pregnancy;
- Discharge her from employment at the time of pregnancy, if she is unable to work;
- Discriminate against her in compensation or in terms, conditions, or privileges of employment;
- Deny the same benefits and privileges of employment given to other employees, unless the denial is based on a bona fide requirement of the business;
- Deny her transfer to a less strenuous or less hazardous position, if so requested, and if a policy, practice, or collective bargaining agreement is in place authorizing such a transfer;
- Terminate her employment if she may be found in U.S. 2023.

Conditions arising from these provisions of law may be made to the Louisiana Commission on Human Rights (OHR), to learn more or for a copy of the regulations please visit the following site: www.louisianaworkforce.com/commission/.

Independent Contractor or Employee?

ATTENTION ALL EMPLOYEES, EMPLOYERS, INDEPENDENT CONTRACTORS AND SUBCONTRACTORS:

The law asks you to be an employee, voter, or:

• To be a voter and elector and control your property for your use, AND

• You are currently engaged in an independently established trade, occupation, profession, or business.

Your employer, contractor, or subcontractor, you to be an independent contractor under all three of these facts apply to your work.

IT IS AGAINST THE LAW FOR AN EMPLOYER TO MISCLASSIFY EMPLOYEES AS INDEPENDENT CONTRACTORS OR PAY EMPLOYEES OFF THE BOOKS.

Employee Rights:

If you are an employee, you are entitled to:

• Unemployment benefits, if unemployed through the fault of your own, able to work, and meet other eligibility requirements;

• Workers' Compensation benefits for the job you do.

A violation of this law for employers to misclassify anyone who meets the right factors for law violations against the employer or you will be a repeat, call the Louisiana Commission on Human Rights 1-800-359-0154 (TDD).

This notice must be posted in a conspicuous place, setting forth information to effectuate this purpose.
